1. Internship Assignment

Intern will participate in a structured Summer Analyst internship assignment. Intern may assist with financial analysis, market research, data review, presentations, transaction or client materials, project coordination, and related tasks assigned by the Firm. Intern will perform assigned work with care, professionalism, and attention to accuracy, subject to supervision, training, and applicable policies.

2. Training, Supervision, and Evaluation

Intern will attend orientation, training sessions, compliance briefings, team meetings, and other program activities as directed. The Firm may evaluate Intern's performance, professionalism, attendance, teamwork, communication, and compliance with policies. Nothing in this agreement guarantees a future internship, full-time role, return offer, promotion, placement, or continued engagement.

3. Office Access and Conduct

When present at the New York City office or any Firm facility, Intern will comply with visitor, building access, cybersecurity, confidentiality, market conduct, data protection, physical security, attendance, dress, workplace conduct, and health and safety procedures. Any workspace access, badge, system credential, device, application, file, data permission, or trading-system permission may be limited, monitored, suspended, or revoked at any time.

4. Employment Status and Payroll

Internship status, payroll treatment, benefits eligibility, tax withholding, and required onboarding documentation would be governed by the Firm's official offer letter, employment records, policies, and applicable law. This agreement does not create an employment relationship or independent contractor relationship by itself and should not be used as proof of employment or compensation.

5. Confidential Information

Intern may receive confidential, proprietary, personal, regulated, or market-sensitive information, including business plans, client information, research, models, code, portfolio data, trade ideas, pricing, strategies, policies, personal data, and internal communications. Intern will protect such information, use it only for authorized internship purposes, and not disclose it except as authorized in writing by the Firm.

6. Intellectual Property and Work Product

To the extent permitted by law, all work product, analyses, spreadsheets, models, notes, code, documentation, presentations, data schemas, process improvements, inventions, discoveries, and other deliverables created, conceived, or reduced to practice by Intern in connection with the internship will be owned by the Firm. Intern agrees to cooperate in executing documents reasonably necessary to confirm such ownership.

7. Data, Systems, and Trading Restrictions

Intern will not copy, export, scrape, reverse engineer, distribute, or use Firm data, systems, credentials, documents, research, models, or trading signals for any personal, external, academic, commercial, or competing purpose. Intern will not place trades, submit orders, provide investment advice, communicate with clients, or access live trading infrastructure unless expressly authorized by the Firm and subject to applicable controls.

8. Compliance With Law and Policy

Intern will comply with applicable laws, regulations, exchange rules, sanctions requirements, anti-bribery obligations, data protection requirements, insider trading restrictions, market abuse prohibitions, and Firm policies. Intern will promptly report any suspected breach, conflict, unauthorized disclosure, security incident, or compliance concern through the Firm's designated channels.

9. Conflicts and Outside Activities

Intern represents that participating in the internship will not violate any obligation to another person or entity. Intern will disclose any actual or potential conflict of interest, including outside employment, consulting, advisory activity, research commitments, personal trading, investment activity, or family/business relationships that could reasonably relate to the internship or the Firm's business.

10. Return of Property and Information

Upon request or at the end of the internship, Intern will promptly return all Firm property, identification cards, devices, records, files, documents, notes, credentials, and confidential information, and will securely delete any Firm information from personal systems where deletion is permitted and required by policy.

11. End of Internship; Termination

Either the Firm or Intern may end the internship relationship in accordance with applicable official employment documentation, Firm policies, and applicable law. The Firm may end access immediately for security concern, compliance concern, policy violation, unauthorized disclosure, failure to satisfy onboarding requirements, failure to maintain required work authorization, or other lawful reason.

12. No Guarantee of Offer, Sponsorship, or Securities Activity

This agreement does not create an offer of employment, securities offering, broker-dealer registration, investment advisory relationship, placement arrangement, visa sponsorship, or promise of future engagement. Intern will not represent that Intern has authority to bind the Firm or speak on behalf of the Firm unless expressly authorized in writing.

13. Governing Law

For purposes of this agreement, this Agreement would be governed by the laws of the State of New York, without regard to conflict-of-law principles, except to the extent preempted or governed by applicable federal law or mandatory employment law rules.

14. Entire Agreement and Official Documents

This agreement is not a substitute for the Firm's official offer letter, onboarding documents, employment agreements, compliance certifications, background check authorizations, work authorization materials, or policy acknowledgments. Any real internship terms would be controlled only by documents issued by authorized Firm representatives.
