 ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF RECEIPT - TRAINING TEMPLATE ***

Your complete Form I-129, Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker, requesting O-1 nonimmigrant classification was received and is pending as of [MM/DD/YYYY].

This training notice acknowledges receipt of a petition only. A pending Form I-129 does not, by itself, grant O-1 status, extend a current period of authorized stay, authorize employment, create a visa, or guarantee admission to the United States. Any request for change of status or extension of stay is adjudicated separately as part of the petition.

REQUESTED O-1 CLASSIFICATION AND CASE PROCESSING:

The petitioner requests O-1A or O-1B nonimmigrant classification for the named beneficiary. USCIS may approve or deny the petition, issue a Request for Evidence, issue a Notice of Intent to Deny, transfer the case, or take another adjudicative action. Keep a copy of all filings and notices. Use only an authentic USCIS receipt number to check the status of an actual case.

CHANGE OF STATUS, EXTENSION OF STAY, AND TRAVEL:

If the petition includes a request to change status to O-1 or extend O-1 stay, the beneficiary must continue to comply with the terms of the beneficiary's existing status and authorized stay. Departure from the United States while a change-of-status request is pending may result in abandonment of that change-of-status request, although USCIS may continue adjudicating the underlying petition for consular notification. An approved petition is not itself an O-1 visa.

EMPLOYMENT AUTHORIZATION:

The filing or pendency of this petition generally does not authorize O-1 employment. Employment may begin only when permitted under applicable law and the terms of an approved petition, and it is limited to the petitioner or agent, activities, locations, and validity period covered by the approval. Special rules may apply to certain timely filed extension petitions; obtain qualified legal advice for a specific case.

ADDRESS CHANGES:

A person required to report a change of address must update USCIS within the required period, generally within 10 days of moving. Changing an address with the U.S. Postal Service does not update the address maintained by USCIS. Petitioners should also update the mailing address associated with the petition when appropriate.

This page contains general training information only. It is not a substitute for an authentic USCIS notice, the governing statutes and regulations, or advice from a qualified immigration attorney or accredited representative.

Important O-1 Petition Training Information

PREMIUM PROCESSING:

Form I-907 may be available for an eligible Form I-129 petition. Premium processing requests faster adjudicative action; it does not guarantee approval and does not change the substantive eligibility requirements.

REQUESTS FOR EVIDENCE AND DEADLINES:

USCIS may request additional evidence or issue another notice containing a response deadline. The petitioner should respond completely and on time using the instructions in the authentic notice. Failure to respond may result in a decision based on the existing record.

APPROVAL, VALIDITY DATES, AND ADMISSION:

An approval notice identifies the classification and petition validity dates. For a beneficiary outside the United States, approval generally permits the beneficiary to apply for an O-1 visa at a U.S. consular post, unless visa-exempt, and then request admission. The Department of State and U.S. Customs and Border Protection make separate visa and admission determinations.

EMPLOYMENT OR PETITION CHANGES:

Material changes in the terms and conditions of employment, a change of petitioner, or other significant changes may require a new or amended petition. The petitioner should review applicable requirements before changing the work arrangement.

RECORDKEEPING AND CASE STATUS:

Retain copies of the petition, supporting evidence, delivery records, fee receipts, and all authentic notices. Confirm case status only through official USCIS channels using the receipt number printed on the authentic notice.

ADDRESS AND CONTACT INFORMATION:

Use the official USCIS change-of-address procedures for a real case. A U.S. Postal Service forwarding request does not replace a required address update with USCIS.

Accessibility and Official Assistance

For an actual USCIS appointment or notice, request a disability accommodation through the official USCIS accommodations process or contact the USCIS Contact Center. Use only contact information obtained directly from an authentic USCIS notice or the official USCIS website.
