

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Sammy Abdella for a software engineering role at Google. He has consistently demonstrated the rare combination of strong engineering fundamentals, careful execution, and the kind of ownership you can trust with production systems.

I recommend Sammy without hesitation. If you are looking for an engineer who is reliable under pressure, Sammy will be an exceptional addition to your team.

Best,

Jonathan Miranda

Partner, Y Combinator

CEO, Compyle